An army officer just arrived from Fort Larned, on the Arkanasa river, says that from 12 to 14 Indians, representing nearly all the tribes on the plains, were congregated at or near that fort to receive annuities, but on account of depredations committed by the Cheyennes some weeks since, Col. Wynkoop had been ordered so withhold arms and ammunition. This, the Indians said, was a violation of the treaty, and they notified Colonel Wynkoop that if he did not issue arms they would fight for them, that they were ready for war again. The meeting broke up in great confusion. That evening, the 10th inst., the Kiowas attacked a train from Kansas City, also a Mexican train and mail-carrier, and robbed them of supplies and provisions and beat the teamster.

General Sully arrived from Fort Hook-ar on the 11th, and told the Indians in the presence of 600 cavalry that he pre-ferred peace, but he was ready for war.
This awed them somewhat, but they were discontent. Col. Winkoop depre-cates the vacillating course pursued by the Government, and says that the Indians in his agreent reason were recommend.

All the troops at Fort Ellsworth had been ordered to Larned, and the comman-ders of forces at all posts in the depart-force in the several States prior to the administration of Congress on the subject of reconstruction.

I cannot refrain from directing your special attention to the declaration contained in the joint resolution, that none of the States whose inhabitants were lately in rebellion shall be entitled to representation in the electoral college, &c. If it is meant that uo State is to be allowed to vote for President and Vice-Presideot, all of whose inhabitants were engaged in the late rebellion, it is apparent that no one of the States will be excluded from voting, since it is well known that in every Southern State there were wany persons who did not participate in the rebellion, but who actually took part in its apparents of the states will be excluded from voting, since it is well known that in every Southern State there were wany persons who did not participate in the rebellion, but who actually took part in its apparence.

I therefore conclude that the true meaning of the resolution is that, no State a pertion of whose inhabitants were engaged in the rebellion shall be permitted to participate in the Presidential election, except on terms and conditions therein prescribed. Assuming this to be the true construction of the resolution the inquiry becomes pertined to may those Northern States, a portion of whose inhabitants were actually in rebellion, be prevented at the discretion of Congress from having their electoral vote counted? It is well known that a portion of the inhabitants of New York and Virginia were alike engaged in the rebellion, and it is equally well known that a portion of the inhabitants of New York and Virginia were alike engaged in the resolution of the inhabitants of New York and Virginia as well as New York was at all times during the war recognized by the Federal Government as a State in the Union so clearly that upon the termination of hostifities it was not even be used to participate the Virginia, unless they com-Washington, July 6, 1868.

The radical party has committed em by force. We shall see. The torce required may be incomparably greater than radicalism fouldy imagines.

Nothing perhaps exemplifies the meanness of radical warfare more strikingly than the radical assault on Horatio Seynour for his speech from the steps of the City Hall of New York during the riot in that city in 1863. The exemplification is while to set the assault in a broad light. We will not defend Governor Seymour. He needs no defence. We will simply let his acts speak for him. And eloquent acts they are, as the reader will acknowledge when we shall have placed them before The riot, as our readers know, originated in opposition to the draft, the opposition being kindled partly by the unfait and oppressive operation of the draft in the city of New York, and partly by the suxious appreheasions of poor men whom the draft threatened rudely to tear from their families and homes. On this last point we beg to cite a Republican author-ity. "In the neighborhood in which the initial working of the law was attempted, asysthe Annual Cyclopardia "an excitable element of the city's population resided ery many poor men were, by the turn the wheel, forced instantly as it were from home and comfort, wrested from the support of a needy family, to be sent they know not whither, unless to the hat le field, or, perhaps, to the grave. New York, July 14th, 1863

To the People of the City of New York A riotous demonstration in your city, originating in epposition to the conscription of soldiers for the military service of the United States, has swelled into wast proportions, directing its fury against the property and lives of peaceful citizens. After conreconsly acknowl-edging his reception, the Archbishop proceeded to address his andience at some ength, in an off hand manner, alternateeliciting their laughter and applause." At the close of his speech, the crowd slowly and peaceably returned to their

By this time, however, thanks to the rigor and determination of Governor Seymonr, the gallantry of the police and military force, the suspension of the draft, and, finally, the passage by the mnnicipal authorities of a relief bill paying bree hundred dollars as communication of substitute money to every drafted man of he poorer classes, the riot was virtually it an end. For a day or two longer, the hilows of popular passion, so lately running mountain high, tossed to and fro, and then subsided. Peace and order were retored. Law was again supreme.

As Governor of the State, and Commander-in-Chief of its military forces, he [Governor Seymonr] superseded me in authority over the State militia, commanded by General Sanford; hut General Wool, commanding the United States military forces, continued to regard himself as under my immediate directions, subject, of course, to the approval of his own military judgment and to the commands of his superiors at Washington. It affords me pleasure to add, however, that among all those in authority no diversity of sentiment manifested itself. All cooperated in earnest efforts to restore the wonted peace and quiet of the city by the earliest possible suppression of the outbreak.

Such is an historical outline of Governor Seymour's part in the draft riot in the city of New York. In order to bring out still more distinctthe spirit of his conduct, we heg to add the following extract from a speech which e delivered just before his election in November in 1562.

Now, when the men of the South made the bayonet and the sword the arbiter (they elected, and not we) when they determined to settle it by hlood (and not we)—the sword, so far as the present is concerned, must let the arbiter, and in our strong arms it shall make vigorous and true blows for the lite of our country, for its institutions, and for its flag. Now, let me say this to the higher-law men of the Nouth, and to the higher-law men of the Nouth, and to the higher-law men of the South, and to the higher-law men of the South, and to the mighty events transpiring in this country, that this Union shall never be severed—no, never! Whatever other men may say, as for the conservative people of this country, and as for myself-sa an individual—let other men say and think what they please—as for higher shall be used to the division of this Union, and the breaking up of that great natural alliance which is made by nature and by nature s God, I never will consent to it! No, never, as long as I have a voice to raise or a hand to tight for this our plorious land.

And to superadd the following extract from his measurement. Now, when the men of the South made And to superadd the following extract rom his message to the Legislature of the State in 1863:

Under up circumstances can the division of the Union be conceded. We will put forth every exertion of power, we will use every policy of conciliation, we will hold out every inducement to the people of the South to return to their allegiance, consistent with honor, we will guarantee them every right, every consideration demanded by the Constitution, and by that fraternal record which must and by that fraternal regard which must prevail in a common country; but we can

base on city governments

It was not notif the military under General Brown, who was second in command to General Wool, was united to the police force, that they succeeded in withstanding and repelling the rioters, who outnumbered ten to one the organized force against them. I also urged the police commissioners to arm their torce. They said they would not do so without the sanction of the Governor. I offered to take the responsibility of making the requisition for the arms and furnishing them. But they declined it.

When Governor Seymour arrived, he very cheerfully and promptly acquiesced in the suggestion, and gave requisitions tor arms, which were taken to the police headquarters; but, as the military strength was increasing, it turned out there was no occasion for the police to use them, though they could have been used very effectively at an early stage of the riot.

I have this to say of Governor Seymour, the wreat the total supervisor of the content of the content of the constitution. On the subject in question Governor Seymour's record is now before our read-struction of the Constitution. Unit subject in question of the constitution. On the subject in question of the requisition and the police transmit and the police to take the responsibility of making the requisitions to save found with the saction of the constitution. It is certainly a most unpromising field in which to seek for the material of an assault upon his patriotism. Yet the radical, driven by the stress of partyism, have not only entered this field, but profess to have found it? What article of this massailable and spot less record, think you do they attempt to wrest to their foul purpose? None other, incredible as it must seem, than his triif speech from the steps of the City stage of the riot.

CHEAP FURNITCRE.—The Evenement Illustre, of Parls, gives the following details of the eliver table ordered for the Sulian. The price will be nearer 1,000,000 fiances than 3,000,000 france, as originally stated. The designs are composed from the ideas and advice of M. Agop, sent by the Sulian to Parls for that purpose, and are splendid. The middle or centerpiece represents a Moorish paiace two feet six inches high. There are two endpieces representing fonntains, two trituephal arches and two end-pieces for illowers, sil to be executed in the Albam. iuiphal arches and two end-pieces for ilowers, ail to be executed in the Albaurbra style, in massive silver. Tha length of the table will be about one hundred and forty-eight feet by about sixteen broad. Besides the actual cost of the table, a sum of 2,000,000 francs is destined to the purchase of linan, glassware, accompanying furniture, etc. Such a magniticent tout ensemble has probably never before been manufactured.

SPEED OF A WAVE .- A California pap SPEED OF A WAVE.—A California paper reletes that "the earthquake wave which tilk used the recent eruption in the Sandwich Islands was transmitted to the Parific cosst, and recorded on the government self-adjusting tide ganges at San Francisco and Astoria in about five hurs. On the 23d of December, 185t, a similar wave was transmitted from the cosst of Japan to the Golden Gate in twelve hours and thirty-eight minutes."

From Hawaii to San Francisco the discosst of Japan to the Golden Gate in twelve hours and thirty-eight minutes."

From Hawali to San Francisco the distance is more than two thomand miles. The impulse communicated to the waters by the earthquaka shock proceeded, therefore, at the rate of four hundred miles per honr, or the miles per minute, This fact—will be of very great intercet to men of science.

A letter to the Gardnar (Me.) Home I urnal says;
We met in Nashville General Charles becker, Confederate States army, a young man of infeen ammers, and forty-five pounds whan he le in full tiesh. He stands thirty-one inches high, and is the smallest man in the world. He is some five pounds lighter than Commodore Nutt, and not so tall as Tom Thumb by several inches. Hals better proportioned and looks more like a mau than Tom Thumb. Barnum has been after him several times, but they cannot agree on the price. Barnum cifers the Ganaral tweuty-five dollars per month to be showed, while he in turn claims $1,000. When this slight discrepancy is arranged, the public will donhiese be treated to a sight of this great little man.

but did not prevent a large attendance. The Frankfert players are very nice onng men, and were hospitably enter-ined by the flagle Cinb during the day. he game began at half-past three o'clock, tith the flagle at the bas ith the Fagle at the bat.
Mr. J. W. Dickens, of the Louisville lub, efficiated impartially as Umpire. It was evident from the first part of the game, however, that the Eagle was the better club.

After the second inning they led the score to the close of the game, winning by nine runs. The Valley Club have not had the benefit of an Eastern display of skill to improve their play, and still practice the old style of catching and lding. Their batting was very good. We minst mention that the Valley was elect two of its best players—Rodman and Reynolds—their proper and center-deller, which was balanced by the loss Harry Trumen, the catcher of the agle. Harry cut his hand severely sevrai days ago, and was enable to pla Three very tine plays on the side of the Eagle occurred during the gaine. We will leave this evening for Louisville. We arrived here last Wedneedsy morning, having made the trip in thirty-eight and a half days, the quickest stern-wheel time of the season. We lost stern days from various causes.

The steemer H. M. Shreve (a Falls built boat I believe) has just completed the trip in twenty-live days and sixteen hours. Her time from Omeha to St. Louis 1836 miles) was fifty house. Ourse was fity-two hours, and we lost near our hours with freight. We made et street, between Fourth and Fifth. rery successfultrin in every respect.

We will not lay up, but will immediately enter the low water campaign of the lower (bho, Youre truly, WM. K. THIXTON. Ladies, go and see the tine white ble damask at 75 cents—the cheap mus-

-The St. Louis Republican of Sunday says:

There is no indication of any moderation in the intense heat that has prevailed during the week just passed. A storm of wind, with heavy peaks of hunder and vivid flashes of lightning, aroused hopes about 5 P. M. of a shower of rain, but there hopes were in brief duration, for the storm disappeared in a few moments and the sun shone out with, if such were peesible, renewed vigor. The "heated term" bears with peculiar force upon steamboat clerks, and especially npon the first clerks, who are compelled to remining the greater pormain in the office during the greater pormain in the greater pormain in the during the greater main in the office during the greater por-tion of the day, and the heat in those fifices la perfectly suffocating. About two years ago a Mr. Robinson, of Texase, who waseon his way with a lot of cattle, died and was burled at Island 35. On the last up trip of the Mollie Able, his brother-in-law, Mr. Frank Guesa, togethar with Mrs. Robinson and two young ladies, arrived in this city from Texas, on their way to recovar the body and bury it in our beautiful Elmwood. Yesterday evening thay all started for Island 35 on the Victor, but Mr. Guess was sun-struck shortly after leaving our city, and when near Fort Harria the beat was turned about to procure medical wid, but Mr. Guess died just as she reached the whart.
